Distractions Ink. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 272 pages. Dimensions: 8.9in. x 6.0in. x 0.8in. Autumn gasped as she looked up to see the third cowboy, slumping in his saddle. Blood was streaming from a wound in his left leg and had begun to dry on his chaps. His shirt was soaked with blood at the left shoulder, and more dried blood was matting the hair on his forehead, eyebrows, and cheek. My apologies, mister, the cowboy mumbled. Nothin to apologize for, son, Ransom said. But you better get on down here so Doc Sullivan can look you over. Yes, sir, the cowboy said. Then, as he attempted to dismount, the full depth of his weakness from injury and no doubt blood loss was evident as he fell to the ground and groaned. Autumn, owning a character twin to her mother, was not only prone to mischief and clumsiness but also thoroughly steeped with sympathetic compassion and empathy. Thus, instantly and without thinking, she dropped to her knees and moved the poor cowboys head to rest in her lap. He needs to breathe, for one thing, she mumbled as her father hunkered down beside her. Tenderly she tugged at the brown...
